Gents,

Thanks for the spirited conversation and please don't let my passion, if not fatigue, be confused as anger. You have one of the toughest jobs in this operation and we collectively have to deal the situation we have. We will not always agree and that's OK, in fact can be quite healthy – I respect your position and know that my notes will reflect the advice given and my strategic advice or push back. Tomorrow will be a new day and we will get through this!!
